Family oriented dentists in Jackson can handle all your family members dental needs, from the oldest down to the youngest. In fact, Jackson dentists strongly encourage new parents to bring their babies in for a first dental checkup as young as six months of age. Even unerupted teeth develop decay if exposed to too many sugared drinks. This caution even includes fruit juices and milk. Your Jackson dentist will caution you to never put a baby to bed with anything but water in a baby bottle.

A first visit to your Jackson dentist will include radiographs to detect any beginning decay, tumors or gum issues that may not be visible to the naked eye and a thorough cleaning, fluoride treatment and periodontal probe. You will also receive a general examination of teeth, mouth and gums for evidence of tooth decay, gum disease or oral cancer.

Jackson dentists also perform restorative services that return the luster to your smile. Dental implants and bridges fill in the gaps left by missing teeth. Crowns protect damaged teeth. Any Jackson dentist would be happy to assist you with these procedures. Are your teeth stained or otherwise discolored from tea, coffee, or cola. Teeth whitening can help. Ask your Jackson dentist for information on this procedure.

What about dental veneers. They do a very good job covering chipped or cracked teeth and filling in the gaps that might otherwise be corrected with braces. In fact, veneers quite possibly could eliminate the need for braces all together. The translucence of the material used to create veneers mimics natural tooth enamel, making veneers an excellent choice for covering any defects in your teeth. Dentists in Jackson are high qualified in these cosmetic dental procedures.

Jackson dentists and their staff place a great deal of importance on continued education and devote time every year to conferences, seminars and workshops on the latest innovations in the science of dentistry. Emphasis on compassionate patient care and comfort and the latest and greatest in dental medicine are the hallmarks of every dentist in Jackson.
